About the project:

Rooppur Nuclear Power Plant is 2.4 GWe nuclear power plant. Here around 1200 workers have deployed. Each worker has a Designation with a role and assigned in a work place. Worker's Roles are divided in 4 major units. For every role here a minimum required number of workers. For each Designation here is a particular salary.

Each work place is under a sector. The power plant divided in 7 major sectors. A sector contains number of buildings, guard salters, watch towers and gate. In the power plant, here total 13 buildings, 4 gates, 4 watch towers and number of guard shelters.

Some of the workers have allocated with an apartment. Each worker has a particular working time slot.

For each worker here is a vacation history.

Entities:

- |                          |  |
|--------------------------|--|
| 1.Workers:        | Hold information about all workers.  |
| 2.Designation:    | All Designations. And based on Designations and role hold salary information of workers.                                 |
| 3.Role:           | Information about working role under which unit for a designation. And minimum required number of workers for that role. |
| 4.Work_Place:     | Information about, where a worker is going to work.  |
| 5.Vacation_Date:  | Hold information about vacation dates of each worker. Format(YYYY-MM-DD)   |
| 6.Time_Slot:      | Time slot information for workers to work on that particular time.   |
| 7.Apartment_INFO: | Information about apartment those are made for the workers.  |

ER Diagram Description:

At first considering the tables 'designation' and 'working role' with the relation 'working role'. Here each designation belongs to a role. Basically it's a many to one relationship. Each designation must be under exactly one role. A role can contain zero or many designations.

Now considering the tables 'workers' and 'designation' with the relation 'worker's designation'. It's a many to one relationship. Here each worker must have exactly one designation. Many worker may work under a designation.

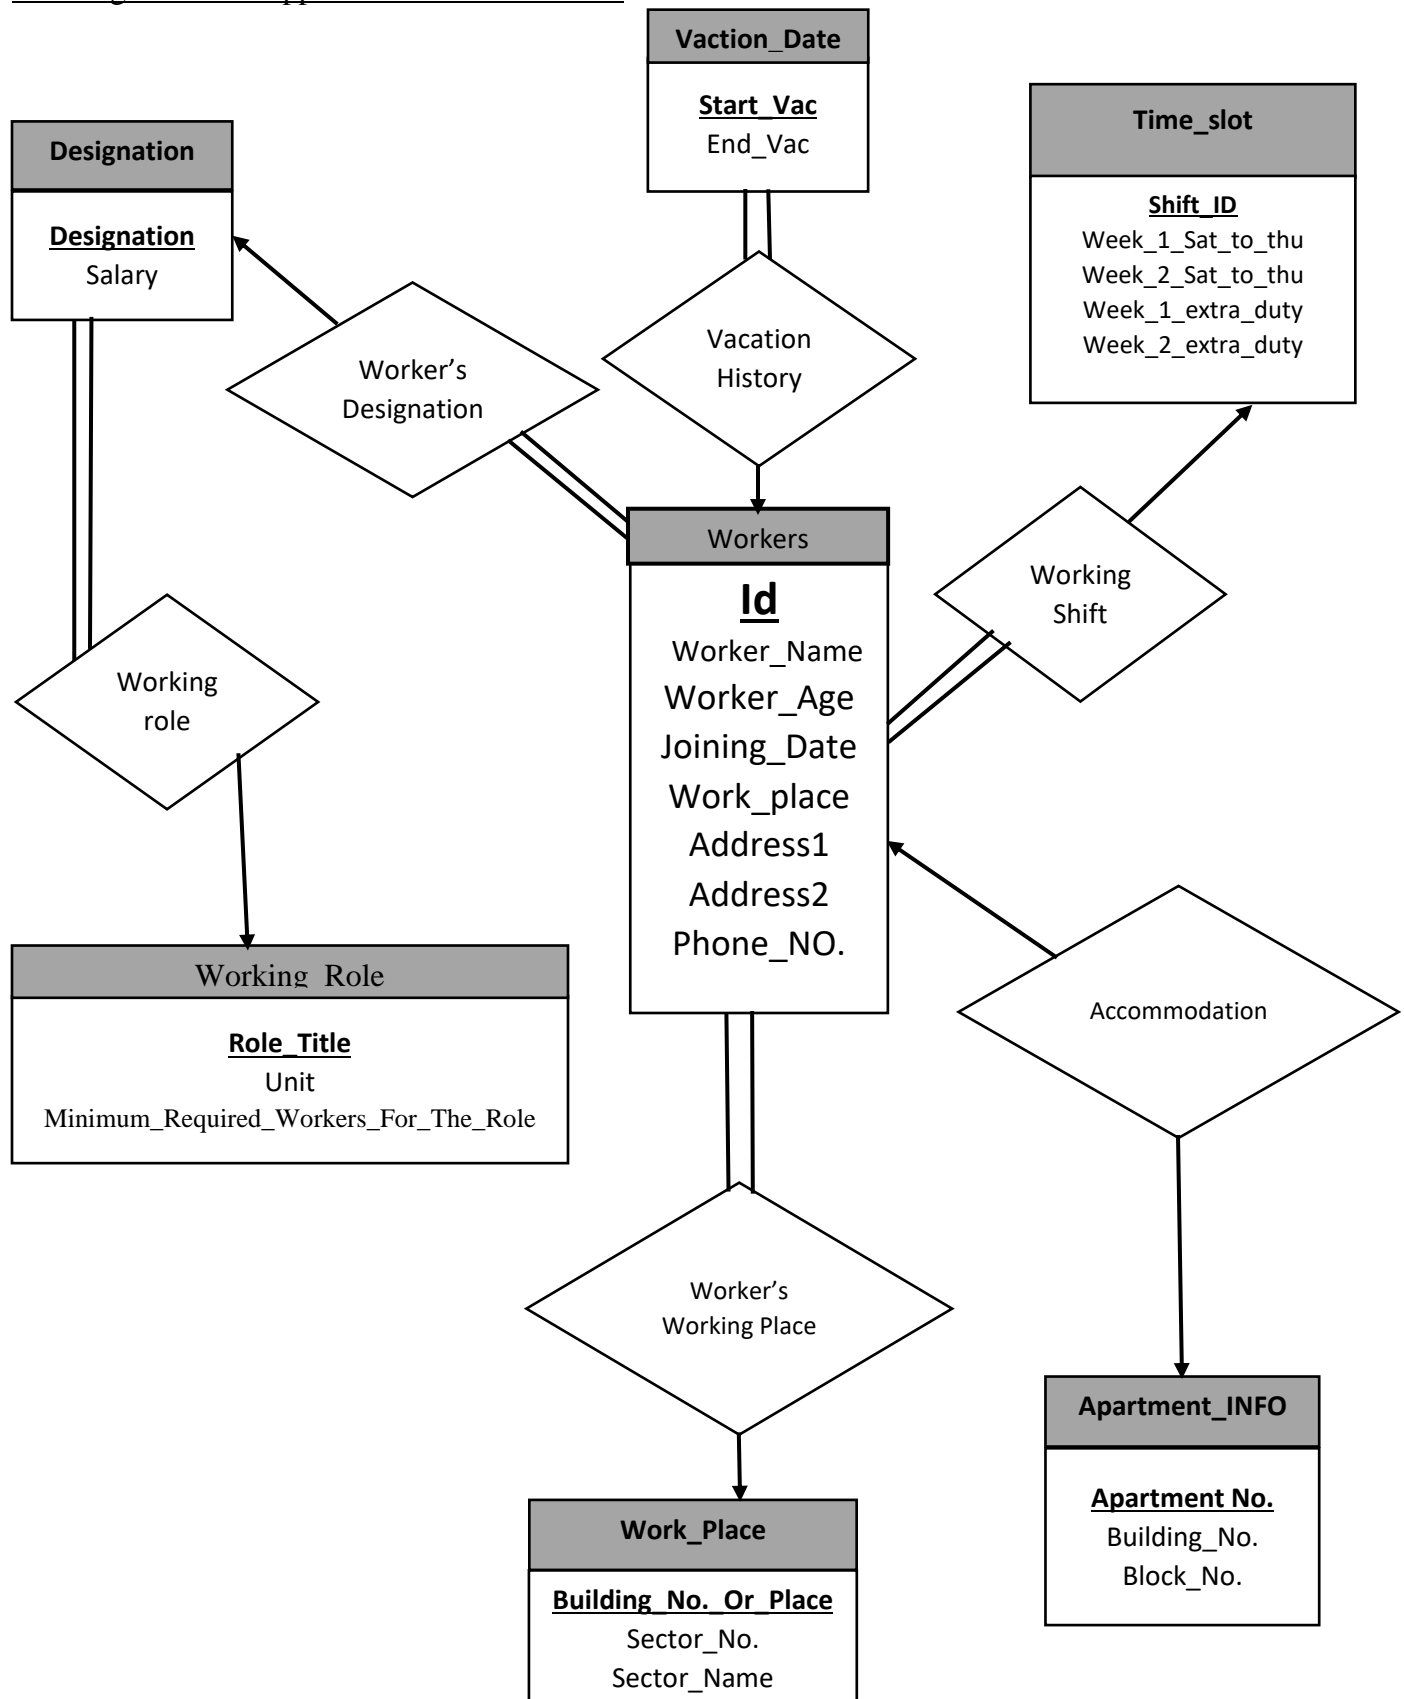

Considering tables 'workers' and 'work place' with the relationship 'worker's working place'. It's a many to one relationship. Each worker must have exactly one work place. Many workers can work at a work place.

Considering tables 'workers' and 'vacation date' with the relationship 'Vacation history'. It's a one to many relationship. Each vacation history is for exactly one worker. A worker may have many vacation history.

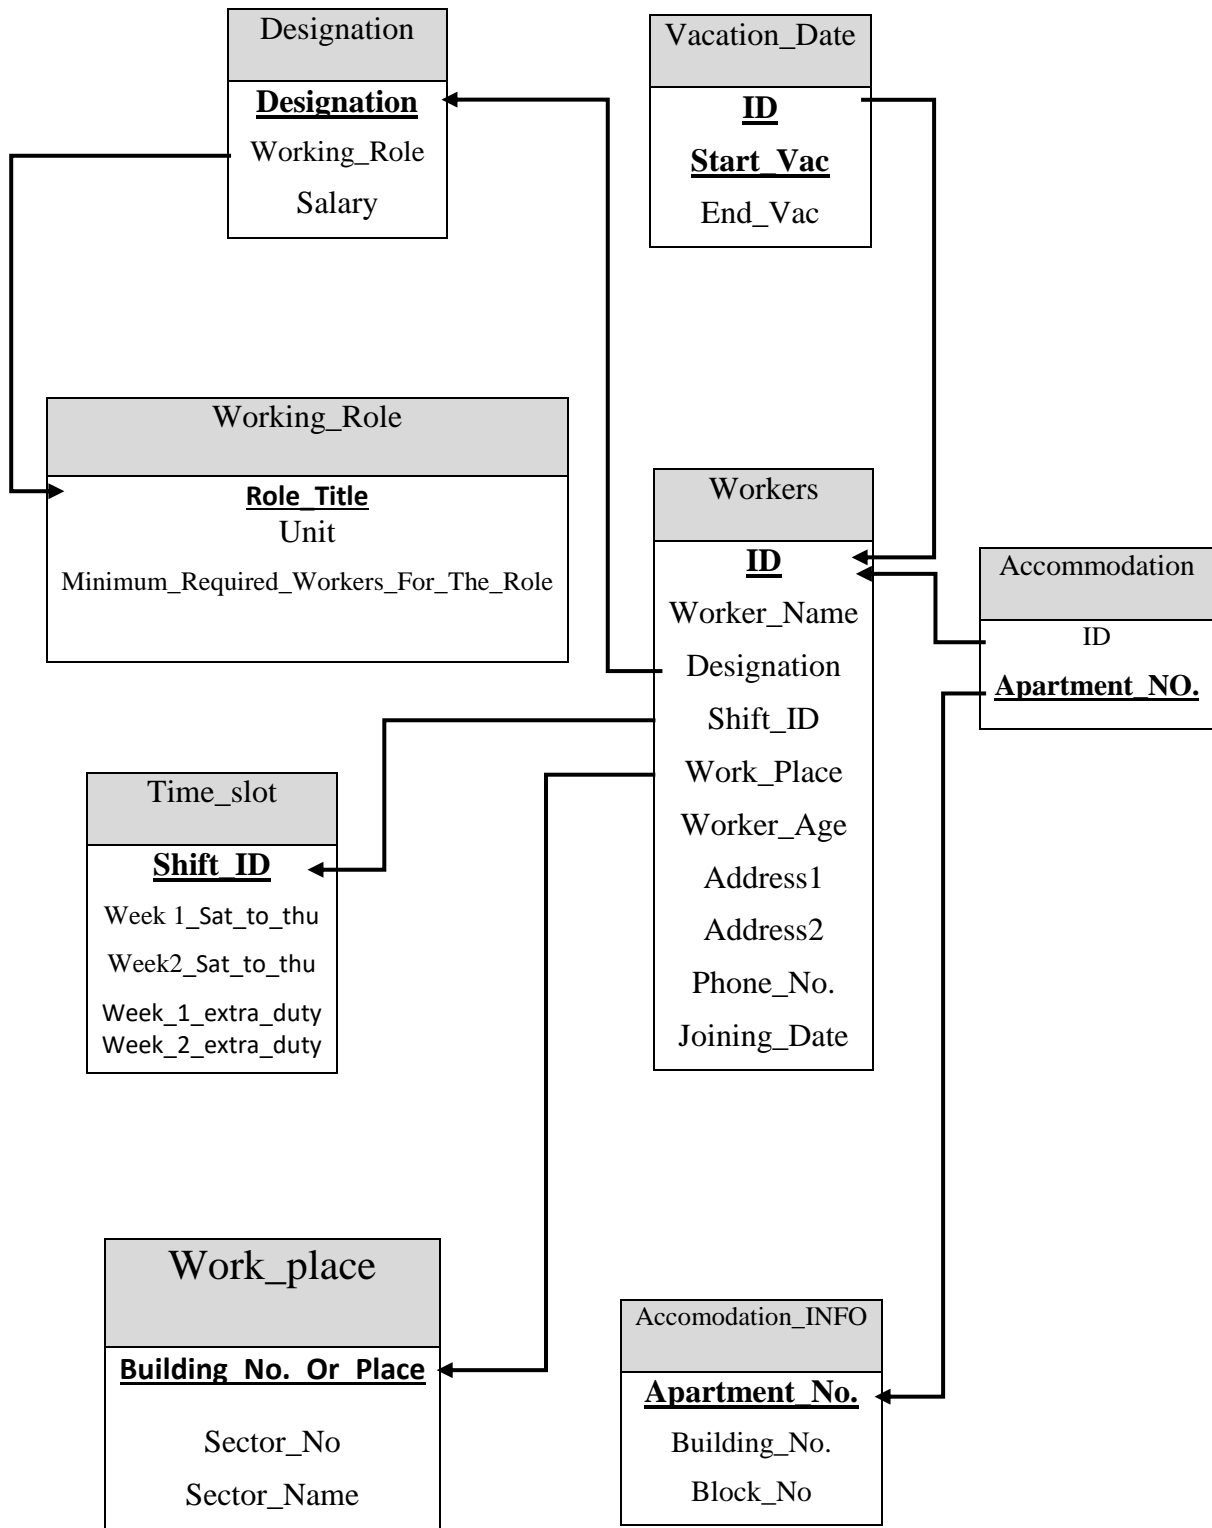

Considering tables 'workers' and 'time slot' with the relationship 'working shift'. Each worker must have exactly one working shift. In a working shift many workers may allocated.

Considering tables 'workers' and 'apartment INFO' with the relationship 'accommodation'. Here the relationship is one to one relation. In this relation, an apartment can be allocated for a worker. An apartment can't be allocated for more than one worker.

let's assume one of the oldest labour taking retirement.

Find labours Id and name whose age more than 54:

select id,Worker_Name from Workers
where Worker_Age>54 and Designation= 'labour';
```

	id	Worker_Name
1	20100734	Md. Anik Hasan
2	20100738	Md Nazmul Rahman
3	20100740	Md. Razib Hasan
